

Abstract

We consider one and two-dimensional initial boundary value problem for degenerate equation. There are constructed the difference schemes of approximate solution of this problem. According to the constructed algorithm there are performed numerical calculations and obtained results for different test problems.